

UDENRIGSMINISTERIET
MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS OF DENMARK

The Danish Institute and the Royal Danish Embassy, with the support of The Ministry of Culture and The Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Denmark, are pleased to invite you to a concert of modern jazz with the acclaimed band

All too Human

At the Technopolis Jazz Festival Wednesday 6 June at 22.00

‘Less is more’ is a well-known saying. It’s an oxymoron because of its paradoxical nature. Paradoxes take us beyond ingrained patterns of perception, reasoning and action. This newly formed unit’s music is simple without being simple. It sounds vaguely familiar and strange at the same time.

About the band’s new album Vernacular Avant-Garde:

“... a haunting record. A kind of magic carried by a quartet at the top whose complementarity is incredible”

“These fluid variations cross the entire disc but are also found within the pieces themselves. The success of the album lies in these alternations and the ongoing dialogue between complexity and simplicity, known and unheard, ancient and contemporary”

“Peter Bruun offers a jubilant musical synthesis as it seems natural and accessible, making this disc a nugget to discover urgently”

All Too Human: Marc Ducret (F): guitar (6 and 12-stringed), Kasper Tranberg (DK): trumpet and cornet, Simon Toldam (DK): moog, JUNO 60 and phillicoda, Peter Bruun (DK): drums and mikrokorg, composition

For more information, please see <https://www.technopolisjazzfestival.com/index.php>